THE COLLEGE NEWSLETTER

NAVIGATING A CHALLENGING FUTURE

First and foremost, allow me to take this opportunity to extend my warm welcome to all students of UCSI College. You have made a wise decision to build a solid foundation in your studies with us. I would like to share a few words for the road ahead of you. As students, you have faced uncertainties and are forced to tread on unfamiliar learning challenges. Without face-to-face interaction, the idea of nurturing young minds is much more difficult to achieve. With that being the case, resilience has now become a necessary hallmark of human endeavours. As such, students should always be mindful that disruptions do occur and always be prepared to face new challenges. As future leaders, it is incumbent upon you to be aware of emerging visions of a new framework for humanity and civilisation such as the Industrial Revolution 4.0, and be drivers of such reforms. Thus just reading your textbooks for exams is not sufficient. You have to broaden your view of the world by keeping abreast of global events and developments, and through discourse, reflect on them. Finally, whatever career path you choose for your future, always have in mind the welfare of society and humanity at large. On that note, I wish you all every success for a healthy and bright future.

UCSI CONTINUES TO REACH OUT

Contributor:
Abdul Jalil Abdul Rahim

In the effort of curbing the spread of the virus, UCSI Group has taken a step forward in helping those in need. Daily groceries essentials are being provided to families and individuals regardless of race and nationalities. On 30 July 2021, one of our staff from the College, Abdul Jalil had volunteered to donate the essentials to the residents of Taman Connaught Apartment together with UCSI University staff, Lucas Lim and Tammy. 30 sets of boxes filled with groceries essentials were donated to the residents and the guards. The journey and overall process went smoothly, and everyone abided by the SOPs.

In this dire situation that we are in, UCSI Group hopes that the donation will help to lessen the burden, and it is hoped that everyone will keep an eye open to help those in need. #UCSIreachesOUT #KITAJagaKITA.

UCSI College in collaboration with Oxford Brookes University for the first time organised a business challenge competition to enhance young students' business skills and global perspectives, and nurture entrepreneurship from within. This event was also sponsored by ACCA Malaysia. An online quiz was conducted via the Kahoot! platform. A total of 1,719 SPM and IGCSE student participants from 573 teams and 169 schools nationwide including Sabah and Sarawak participated in the state-level challenge.

On 28 August 2021, three teams with the highest score from each state were shortlisted to progress to the national level. At the national level, each team was required to submit a video pitch business idea-themed "Green Business - How to Create a Sustainable Business", which was then posted on UCSI College's official Facebook Page. Out of 32 teams, 10 teams with the highest number of "likes" on Facebook were shortlisted for the final round. The 3 winners of the final round were chosen based on the assessments by industrial guests, and judges from UCSI College and Oxford Brookes University, and the number of "likes" on Facebook with weightages of 30%, 40% and 30% respectively.

UCSI COLLEGE VIRTUAL ORIENTATION DAY

Contributor:
Fadillah Muhamad

The pandemic has moved many physical activations online. One of the sectors affected is the education sector as classes, students' activity, seminars and even orientation day has moved online. At UCSI College, we meet and greet new students during Orientation Day virtually via Microsoft Teams. We look forward to group photos at the end of our virtual Orientation Day session as we are unable to meet physically.

During our physical Orientation Day, we are able to have real-time Question-and-Answer with our students or their parents. However, now with everything moving online, our hybrid Orientation Day requires two separate teams to manage the students coming in, and those who are online.

Today, we are equipped with experiences in organising and managing both, online and physical events despite the challenges experienced. We have learned over the months and realised that anything is possible when everything is well-managed.

THE FUNTASTIC GAME FEST

Contributor:
Carrick Tan Kah Wee

Designed to promote good health and wellbeing through yielding fun moments, and enriching the academic life of the participants, the Funtastic Game Fest on 9 July 2021 was a successful online event altogether.

Games were accessible by simply launching a web page in the web browser, neither purchase nor installation was needed. Players did not need to learn and memorise abilities, tactics, and strategies, unlike more challenging games such as League of Legends and Warcraft III. The chosen games such as Among Us, Quizz and Gartic.io did not demand heavy cognitive load too. This made the event very appealing to a broad range of audiences to alleviate their stress as well as partake in the co-curricular activity that awarded ECA points.

From the feedback forms received, the majority of the participants shared how much they thoroughly enjoyed the event and their overall satisfaction with the game's selection. Not only did the event see a great turnout, but it was filled with laughter and inclusiveness despite it being virtual.

United Nations has designated 5 June as World Environmental Day and 8 June as World Oceans Day. World Environment Day was to raise awareness on the action needed to be taken to protect our environment worldwide. On the other hand, World Oceans Day was to inform the public of the impact of human actions on the ocean, develop a worldwide movement of citizens for the ocean, and unite the world's population on a project for the sustainable management of the world's oceans.

This year's theme for World Environment and Ocean Day is "Reimagine. Recreate. Restore" and "The Science We Need; The Ocean We Want". An event at UCSI College was organised to inspire individuals on how to protect and innovate a sustainable environment.
